Bridge Dedication Arrangements Made

Motor Caravan From North and South Coming

The story of the dedication ceremonies and two great motor caravans that will come from the north and the south to attend the opening of the great Carquinez bridge on May 21st was brought to the people of Napa Monday evening, when the Carquinez bridge celebration committee met in the Napa chamber of commerce.

Napa county is vitally interested in Carquinez bridge as bridging the water barrier that has handicapped proper development of the county and its sister communities to the north. The Napa chamber of commerce urged that the committee meet in Napa, that Napa citizens may have first-hand information of the plans for the dedication and learn the facts about the world's greatest highway structure.

Oscar H. Klatt, president of the American Toll Bridge company and George Calder, vice-president and resident engineer, together with committee members from Oakland, Berkeley, Richmond, Pinole, Crockett Martinez and Vallejo attended the meeting.

M. W. Laidlaw of Crockett is general chairman of the Carquinez bridge celebration committee. Other committee members include Max Horwinski, Oakland, chairman of caravens committee; Thomas O'Hara, Vallejo, chairman of entertainment program committee; B. J. McKnight, chairman of the parking committee; Roy O. Long, chairman of the invitation committee and others.

Budget Committee

B. X. Tucker, W. P. Cooper and Miss Norma Goettel comprise the budget committee to fix Richmond's quota for the boy scouts. The total budget for the county is $2100.

Let the telephone lead the van

MOVING DAY to most people may seem to be the problem only of an individual.

To telephone installers whose duty and pride it is to keep our customers' lines of communication clear even during the annual "spring drive"—moving day means thousands of rush orders to move and install telephones, many naming "the first of the month" as the zero hour.

So we ask you, please, if you intend to move—
Let us know as soon as you know
—when and where.

Speed Traps Not Used Now in Catching Speeders

Speed traps to catch the motorist who unsuspectingly steps on it when he thinks the coast is clear have not yet been abolished in the middle west. A speed trap victim near Detroit who had been caught took his case into court. His attorney stated in pleading for his client that the only difference between Jesse James and the police in a small town concerned was that Jesse rode a horse. The publicity following the case resulted in doing away with the speed trap.

It is generally conceded that the motorcycle cop is the most "popular" of all highway and small town roadways. Speeders can hear him coming, and the incentive to step on it is reduced to a minimum, thereby lessening the number of traffic violators and decreasing the "premium" on arrests.

New Yorkers to Have Dwelling in the Sky

The world's highest apartment building, in which the topmost family may live 1,500 feet, or the equivalent of 125 stories, above the level of the Hudson river, will be built on the Palisades, above the New Jersey terminal of the Dyckman street ferry.

Besides electric refrigeration and dish-washing machines, radio outlets and a steam laundry, devices to reduce to a minimum the physical effort of tenants, it is proposed to provide for their health by installing in each apartment an electric sunbath, bath artificial sunlight of summer intensity, which is considered a tonic for the nerves. Speedy electrically driven boats would conduct the tenants to the New York business districts in 25 or 30 minutes.

The tower itself of 90 stories, would rise 1,000 feet above the Palisades, which, at this point, are 500 feet high. The building proper would be 16 feet higher than the present highest structure in the world, the Eiffel tower.—New York Herald-Tribune.

Powerful Amplifier

A circular bank of high-power vacuum tubes, capable of delivering 2,000,000 watts of power, is the final amplifier through which the voice of a person telephoning by wireless from New York is forced through the ether over the Atlantic to London. The coils encircling the base of the bank carry gallons of ice cold water to the base of the tubes, thereby preventing tubes from melting under the tremendous heat they generate.

Meanest of Them All

One of the meanest of all mean individuals is at work pursuing his nefarious practice of poisoning dogs. No human being is quite so mean as he who goes about casting poison before the pets of little children and the companions or prideful pedigreed possessions of their elders. Several valuable dogs, among them pets of little children, have been poisoned the past week.—Martinez Gazette.

A number of fine dogs have been poisoned in El Cerrito and Albany and other localities the past week, among them two valuable Llewellyn setters in Albany. Several of the baits found and destroyed consisted of bits of frankfurters, which were handily tossed into yards.

Passing of Father Egan

Rev. Father John T. Egan, 56, who died at his Berkeley home Sunday, was a brother of Patrick F. Egan of Richmond. Death followed a brief illness.

Almond Market to Be Stiffened

According to letters received by members from the directors of the almond growers' association, the unsold 1926 crop of unsold almonds represents an appraised value of $791,386. This is about 20% of last year's crop. The board recommended that another advance from the exchange's $300,000 surplus be made in order that prices might be maintained.

Artillery For Park

A 5 inch gun from the Benicia arsenal will be placed in Memorial park, according to the allied council of war veterans of Richmond, who have negotiated the mounted piece.

Bond Issue

The proposed harbor bond issue of $640,000, sponsored by the chamber of commerce, is being considered by the city council. It is believed that with the guarantee of the Ford plant coming to Richmond, the bonds would go over big.

Well Supplied

The supply of service stations in Richmond and especially on the main business thoroughfare, would seem to be sufficient. In fact, a few of them would serve their purpose by retiring further inland.

Floods in Middle West

The property loss caused by the recent Mississippi river floods will total 25 millions, it is reported. The loss of life has been estimated at 25.

Herdman With Staff Drove Lion From Prey

"All lions are not courageous in spite of the reputation for this which they possess," writes Lieut. Col. A. H. W. Haywood in "Sport and Service in Africa." "I have known of more than one instance where a lion has shown downright cowardice. A case in point was so remarkable that it is worth recording. A herdman was tending a big herd of cattle one day when he was surprised out of his pleasant daydreams by a deep bellow of fear and pain proceeding from a member of his charge some distance to a flank. He quickly ran in the direction of the noise and saw a lion had jumped on a bull and was attempting to drag it down, which is a method of attack frequently adopted prior to administering the 'coup de grace' that will break its neck. He thereupon, without the least hesitation, dealt the lion a series of heavy blows with his staff. Astonishing to relate, the lion immediately relaxed his hold and galloped off! The promptitude with which the herdman acted led one to suppose that this could not have been the first time on which he had met a similar situation by similar methods.

A Bit of the Ready

Along a country road came a $6,000 limousine. As it caught up with a flivver, the owner of the big car could not resist the temptation to slow down and give the other fellow a bit of jolly. "Heavens, man!" he said, "what is it about your car that makes such a dreadful rattling noise?"

"That? Oh, that's $5,500 jingling in my pocket," replied the flivver driver.—Boston Transcript.

Not Sure About Dick

Madge—Dick is to ask father's consent this afternoon. I feel nervous about it.
Mollie—Are you afraid your father won't give his consent?
"No, I'm afraid Dick won't turn up."

Pinole Memorial Fund Entertainment Sat. Eve. April 30

Pinole-Hercules will erect a memorial to their late war heroes, and the movement is being sponsored by real-patriotic and interesting citizens, in giving the following fine program, featuring a vaudeville entertainment and dance. Many Contra Costans will attend this benefit for a most worthy and patriotic cause:

Telephone Notes

A volume of 650,000 local and long distance telephone calls are handled each day in the city of Indianapolis.

The population of Wisconsin gained about one per cent in 1926, while the number of telephones increased nearly four per cent.

There are 5360 times as many telephones in Connecticut as there were when the first commercial telephone exchange in the world was opened in New Haven, Conn., on January 28, 1878.

A new cable employing telephone repeaters has been completed between Paris and Havre, France, a distance of 142 miles.

The president of the Georgia Cotton Company, J. S. Billingslea of Albany, Georgia, recently sold $60,000 worth of cotton in three minutes by transatlantic radio telephone in a conversation between Albany and Liverpool, a distance of 4500 miles.

To keep oxalic acid on hand for cleaning purposes, buy an ounce of the crystals, put them in a half-pint bottle of water, and pour off the top part of the solution to dilute as needed. All of the crystals do not dissolve, but this method insures a strong solution. Label the bottle poison, of course, and keep it away from the children.

Your License and Engine Number Important

Quite often a motorist is at a loss to identify his car when stolen or wrecked because he has no record of the license or engine numbers. Note these numbers in some secure place for reference in case of emergency. A piece of crayon and the sidewalk of your garage is a good check in case one loses his records. See that your license number on your registration slip tallies with the engine number.

Grand Floral Parade May 7th at San Jose

San Jose, April 22.—Theater visitors this week to the California Theatre will have the privilege of viewing a four minute film of the first annual Fiesta de las Rosas floral parade held at San Jose on May 22 of last year. In four hundred feet it will give the theater patron a conception of the magnitude and beauty of the 93 floats that made up this artistic array of flowers.

Santa Clara county's second annual Fiesta de las Rosas grand floral parade will be held in San Jose on the afternoon of May 7th this year. It is San Jose's 15th anniversary as California's first town, and over 500,000 people are expected to attend the combined celebration, taking place during the week of April 30 to May 7. An Exposition of Progress replete with many historical displays, flower shows, parades, and other attractions will occupy four city blocks near the business section and immediately adjacent to the Alameda—California's first highway.

The climaxing feature of the combined celebration will be the grand floral parade on Saturday, May 7. Eighty-five floats have been assured the committee and with 24 bands, famous throughout the state, it is expected to surpass any similar celebration held in California within the recent decade.

Santa Clara county and San Jose cordially invite all the people in this locality to attend the celebration and see their attractive show.

We recommend this film to you and urge you to see a sample of what San Jose promises in the way of a floral parade at the California Theatre this week.

A continuous day and night telephone service has been established between Berlin and Paris.

Primary Next Monday General Follows, May 9th

There seems to be a lack of interest in the coming city election, according to reports.

Some attribute the political indifference or slump to the "noiseless" plan of campaigning.

But even "silent Cal" doesn't overdo things in working the soft pedal: You'll hear him tooting his horn in the upper cliff very soon. And printer's ink will be his long suit, and will elect him.

But that is national. We're on local—councilmen, both sexes. Next Monday's primaries will give a line on who's who.

A. L. Paulsen is running like Mayor Davis, ahead of his ticket. The printer's are for him, because he is a firm believer in the use of their ink. He should lead the field as a progressive live wire candidate—one who will "poll the persimmon."

There are seven starters or candidates. There are 8246 eligible voters on City Clerk Paris' list. If one-half of them vote it will be a surprise. "General Abathy," as President Ben Harrison once said, "is abroad in the land."

Always grease in iron with hard or vaseline before putting it away for a long time, or it will rust. To remove rust on an iron, scour it with scouring powder, and rub well with a flannel cloth.

There is a daily average of 1,154,000 local calls and 17200 long distance messages over the lines of the Bell System in the state of Iowa.

Leather furniture coverings look better and last longer if they're rubbed occasionally with castor oil. This restores to the leather the oil that gradually dries out. The oil should be well rubbed in and any excess wiped off the surface, or it will collect and hold dirt which will darken the leather, and soil whatever touches it.

DARFUR-Latest British Ward

Young Ship of the Desert in Darfur.

(Prepared by the National Geographic Society, Washington, D. C.)

AS A result, during the great war, of the pro-Turkish activities of the sultan of Darfur, the westernmost province of the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, Great Britain found it necessary to take over actual government of this region on the southern edge of the Sahara near the middle of northern Africa. Darfur is therefore one of the most recent lands to pass from native ruler to British administrator.

The new British administrator learned of the character of the region over which he was to rule by the long and arduous journey. His caravan marched practically all day and every night except for a couple of hours at midnight to rest the camels.

Um Kedada, which was a military base for the British army of occupation on the march up to El Fasher, stands on high ground with a fair outlook, surrounded by escarpments of low-lying hills. Its chief call to fame is a most excellent water supply—an invaluable asset!

It is difficult adequately to picture what a well means until one has lived near the Sahara. On the 300-mile trip from Central Sudan there are only two. The first necessity for British administration at Um Kedada was a temporary house. In the land of opposites, where one writes from right to left, takes off one's shoes and leaves the hat on when entering a house, one naturally begins building at the roof and builds downward. Native tukis, or huts, are made from dried millet stalks and are shaped like straw bee hives, but are finished at the top with little tufts.

When the temporary dwelling was finished, the work of creating a town was started in earnest. This was planned in lots of 107 by 107 feet, with roads running north and south and east and west, of 35 feet and 32 feet, alternately. On each of these plots nine tukis were allowed to be built, and a man was appointed head of the plot to see that it was kept in a sanitary condition. Natives gradually collected from the surrounding hamlets to be near the well, and a town of 500 or 600 people soon sprang up, including a few pilgrims from Nigeria. People did not formerly live near the highway for fear of being raided by passing bands.

Millet Their Only Grain.

The country of eastern Darfur is mostly covered by brushy scrub and a grass called haskanet, the seeds of which have innumerable little spikes that get into everything—food, clothes, hair and skin—setting up nasty irritations. The natives all carry homemade tweezers to extract the spikes from their legs.

Millet is the only species of grain that will grow in the desert, owing to the pooriness of the sand and soil. Although the inhabitants call themselves Arabs and speak that language, they are negroes—that is, negroes with a small admixture of Arab blood which has come down through the ages.

They are Mohammedans, but as few can read or write, they are not strict followers of the prophet, except in that both sexes respect the Ramadan, the month of fasting.

Owing to the Arab invasion of northern Africa many centuries ago, the Moslem religion extends from the Red sea to the West African coast.

Popular Shoe Style

The short, round-toed oxford in suede leather is popular and the last and leather are also used for the one-strap pump. Mules are frequently trimmed with a chon of ostrich feathers at the toe.

Frocks for Spring

Astonishingly inexpensive for anything so smart and charming are little hand-made frocks for spring. They come in delicate spring-like colors and are trimmed with fine handwork.

Hosiery Colors

At the moment the smartest colors in hosiery for general wear are gray and black with black and rose beige, which comes in both light and dark shades. Next in popularity are the clear warm tans.

A Smart Combination

A smart dress for the red-haired girl or slender woman is made of beige jersey and deeper beige in crepe—a combination of materials that is very smart this season.

SWEATERS VIVIDLY PATTERNED; BEGUILING SNUG-FITTING HATS

WHEN springtime arrives with its program of outdoor events, it is the girl in sports attire who is the center of attraction. This year she is sponsoring knitwear of the smartest. There is simply no end to novelty, this season, in the realm of knitted togs. As to sweaters, the subject is exhaustless.

The vivid, lovely colors of the new sweaters, who can describe them? Especially those in hand-blocked effect setting forth a striking modernistic patterning such as pictured herewith.

The slip-on type is a great favorite this season, and it is smartest worn

Devotees of the little felt hat refuse to be influenced by the many rumors of its "positively last appearance." Not while the winsome performance of new tricks of color and design, not while Paris continues to send over such beguiling new felts, will women of smart dress be persuaded to bid farewell to the snug fitting felt, which has so long been the hat of her choice.

Now that every perfectly appointed wardrobe includes headwear matched to each costume, there is need for hats of every genre from felt to fabric to with a white jersey or silk knit skirt. A convertible collar, such as styles the sweater in the picture is much to be desired as it adds both to its modishness and its utility.

Knitted construction grows more and more complex. All sorts of fancy stitches are called into play to produce openwork stripes and novel lace effects—in fact the newest things show these sheer filmy patternings. Quite out of the ordinary is the Turkish toweling knitwork, of which entire suits are made.

Horizontal stripes play a colorful and spectacular part in sweaterdom. Compense effects are also high-lighted throughout knitted modes. Another striking feature is the prominence straw. The exquisite felt types in the picture are an eloquent argument in their own favor.

The employment of felt in two tones, is one of the attractions of hat number one in the group. It illustrates how effectively the milliner trims felt with felt this season.

Just below this model is a patrician felt style, which introduces a wide grosgrain ribbon as a background for an embellishment of tidbits of colorful felt. The shape itself is beige.

The modish felt in the lower left corner is handsomely elaborated with an applique of cutout felt leaves and fruit.

The next clever model employs two shades of fallie silk in connection with

given to black and white combinations.

Much of the effectiveness of the season's knitted costumes is due to the accessories, such as a felt or crocheted straw hat in color tuned to the ensemble. A bewitching belt of gold kid or embroidered raffia straw, adds charm upon charm. And there is the new printed silk or cotton kerchief; it has entered into the scheme of things with a will. No golf links scene is complete without the picturesque silk square tied in every capricious way—knotted at front, at shoulder, or just caught with a bar pin.

leaves of felt which are stencilled with gold paint.

To the right is a felt of enricened design which displays deft handcraft, also a most exquisite color scheme of rose beige with monkeyskin.

For the lovely model at the top to the right, gold tinsel thread and colorful jewels unite in achieving the decorative note.

There is this to be said of felts, only the finest qualities are now in demand and their coloring must be choice, their styling convincing, in order to win lady's acceptance.

CALIFORNIA NEWS BRIEFS

A rat disorganized a parade at Santa Rosa recently, sent scores of women screaming into hysterics while strong men shouted in alarm. The parade was the culmination of Be Kind to Animals Week. Hundreds of boys and girls, surrounded by pet dogs, cats, goats, monkeys and such, comprised a six blocks procession. On the sides of the streets were gathered parents and onlookers. Charles Friedman, 9, was one of the proud marchers. His fondness for animals was displayed in four or five large, white-spotted Italian rats. They were in his pockets and clambered on his shoulders. At one of the busiest downtown streets, one of the rats, very tame and playful, leaped to the shoulders of a woman. She promptly went into hysterics, followed by every woman in sight. A wild scramble for altitude took place and the normal peaceful scene took the appearance of a full blown riot. Charles is still looking for his pet.

More than 500,000,000 pounds of milk, or its equivalent in the form of manufactured dairy products, was required to supply the needs of Americans in 1926. In excess of this country's production, according to figures disclosed by the Federal Bureau of Agricultural Economics. In striking contrast to this adverse trade balance in the dairy industry, California total production increased and her per capita consumption likewise showed a gain for the year. It was revealed in a review of the statistics prepared for D. M. Dorman, president of the Crescent Creamery company. Every man, woman and child in the state last year consumed twenty-three and one-half gallons of milk, compared with twenty-two gallons in 1925, or a total gain of 7,000,000 gallons for the state's population. Total consumption in California in 1926 was 108,362,554 gallons, as against 101,705,518 for the preceding year.

Charles M. Schwab, head of the Bethlehem Steel Company, who is at Del Monte, declared that California's future depended on intelligent conservation of the state's natural resources. "Protect and replant your fire devastated forests," said Schwab. "Exercise every precaution in the preservation of your valuable watersheds. Conserve and put to use the flood waters which at present do thousands of dollars damage every year." Schwab said he found California prosperous and felt that the Florida boom would rebound to the benefit of this state, because everyone who joined in the Florida rush would want to visit California.

Showing building activity of more than $1,000,000 in excess of the figure for the same period in 1926, Los Angeles building permits for the first eight days of April soared to $2,171,084, as compared with $2,062,752 for April to date in 1926. A total of 1076 permits have been issued thus far this month, as compared with 868 in 1926. Not only was a sharp rise noted over the April period of last year, but the total for the first eight days this month is almost $1,000,000 in excess of the corresponding eight days of March, 1927. During the March period, 976 permits were issued with a total valuation of $2,252,227.

Although lettuce shipments have recently been low, other products are going out in car lots from Brawley. Cabbage is moving; carrots, grapefruit, greens and peas made up the bulk of the shipments. Cattle are beginning to show an increase, and a car of so-called "bootleg pigs," gathered from various valley points recently moved to Los Angeles. This is in marked contrast to the time when hogs were a bulk in outgoing shipments, while cars of green stuffs were scarcely known.

Warning that continued destruction of the state's watershed coverage will cut down the water supply so badly needed to promote irrigation projects, Governor Young, as chairman of the state committee, addressed an appeal to all agricultural associations in California to assist in spreading the gospel of fire prevention and reforestation during American Forest Week, April 24 to 30.

Redlands grows steadily judging from the growth of the postal receipts. For the first three months of this year the receipts at the postoffice here were $17,560, as compared with $16,462 for the same period last year. Every month so far this year has shown a gain, such a gain as would indicate a steady increase in population.

Southern Pacific trains will travel slowly when they go through Delano if the railroad obeys an ordinance ordered drafted by the city attorney by unanimous vote of the city trustees. The proposed ordinance would cut the speed of the train to eight miles an hour as a safeguard to children.

Quite an acreage of watermelons is being planted this year at Ballio, Merced county, considering that peaches and grapes and alfalfa are the staple crops for this vicinity. There is no question about being able to produce good melons, and early ones at that, but the great problem has been to be able to market them to advantage.

Voters of Modesto school district went to the polls April 13, to cast ballots for city governing officers, for three members of the board of education and on the proposition of $330,000 for school improvements.

Dedication of the new Masonic Temple, at Yreka, Siskiyou county, the new home of Howard Lodge No. 37, of that place, was conducted recently.

One of the largest poultry plants in Tulare county is being developed by the Woodside Poultry association at Visalia. It is planned to care for 10,000 laying hens.

The new six-story structure for the York Rite Masons of Long Beach, is under construction and rising rapidly. The temple will cover all of the 125x150 foot lot. It is of modified Doric design.

Navel oranges have been going out steadily from all the packing plants at Pomona, over 200 cars having been sent east up to a recent date from the Pomona valley. Fifteen cars of lemons have been shipped.

An important industry is returning to Kings county in the center of the San Joaquin valley fruit belt, in the packing of raisins and other fruits. For several years there has been no packing of raisins in this county.

Construction of the new Owensmouth Christian Science church is well under way. The building will be of stucco, and 30x60 feet in dimension. It will be ready for occupancy within the next thirty days, it is announced.

An agreement between the state board of forestry and the Eddy Tree Breeding Institute of Placerville was reached whereby the Eddy organization will establish an experimental station at the state nursery in Davis.

That dairying is on the increase in the Turlock Irrigation district is evidenced by the large number of thoroughbred dairy cattle being shipped in, over $9,000 worth having arrived within the past ten days. Through the efforts of the Turlock chamber of commerce many of the Turlock farmers are planting alfalfa this season, with the view of stabilizing production.

Is the Valencia orange the crop to which the soil and climate of Orange county are most ideally suited, or will some other product of the soil creep in and crowd it from its golden throne? Can the Avocado be seriously considered as a candidate for future orchard supremacy? These questions are being asked in all seriousness by some well-known growers. Time will answer them.

Bids have been called for on the proposed new creamery to be erected in Visalia by the Knudson Laboratories, Inc., of Los Angeles. This building will be erected on a site on Goshawk avenue along the Southern Pacific tracks. It will be thoroughly modern in every detail, constructed of concrete and steel. About $40,000 or $50,000 is expected to be expended on the first unit of the local plant.

Electors of the Vacaville Union High school district voted Wednesday April 20, on the question of issuing $100,000 bonds to finance school improvements at Vacaville, Solano county. The issue was divided into two proposals, one providing $25,000 for purchase and erection of equipment for a gymnasium, and another for $75,000 to finance alterations and additions to the present school building.

San Diego will have approximately $1,221,900 expended for additional telephone facilities in its exchange during 1927, according to officials of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company. It is estimated that 600,500 will be expended on additional local central office equipment, $46,000 for long distance central office equipment, $355,500 for outside plant equipment, and $319,900 for equipment to be installed in subscriber's homes and offices.

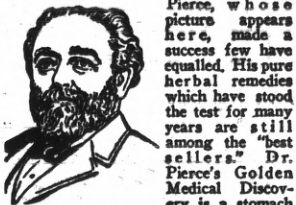

The city of Sonoma having filed a complaint with the railroad commission alleging that the rates for electric light and power charged by that utility are excessive, the railroad commission has ordered the company to place in effect on and after April 5, 1927, reduced rates that will reduce the net return of the company to approximately 8 per cent per annum. The commission found that the company was earning in excess of 18 per cent per annum under the old rates.

Telephone service was inaugurated in Los Angeles in 1880. Of the seven original subscribers, four still appear in the telephone directory and are now large companies. The original directory was a small card. There are listings of 316,500 telephone in the Los Angeles Exchange section of the March 1927 directory. A room in the Baker block on Main street was the first home of the infant telephone company. Just thirty years ago the list of subscribers had grown to 3163.

George W. Foulke, 85 years of age, and still hale and hearty, is Elk Grove's oldest pioneer resident. He arrived at Elk Grove in September, 1853, as a boy after journeying across the plains in a covered wagon with his parents. Foulke can recall how Elk Grove received its name from the first settlers because of the large number of elk seen roving around in this vicinity. Only one other person in the same party of immigrants is still living. She is Mrs. A. C. Freeman of San Francisco.

Diving Dog

Doris Pigeon of North Adams, Mass., has a "diving dog." Brownie, as he is named because of his color, likes to go swimming better than anything else. Doris says that one of his best stunts is to stand on his hind legs and dive into the water. Brownie does all the other "dog" tricks, such as "praying," sitting up, and speaking for his dinner, but Doris and her friends think that his "diving" stunt is entirely different from anything else that dogs usually do.—Washington Star.

FACTS about used car allowances

MOST new car sales now involve the trading-in of a buyer's used car. More and more people are asking: "Why should my used car seem to have several values? . . . Why should dealers in different makes of cars offer me allowances differing materially? . . . Does the largest allowance offered mean the best deal for me?"

Here are basic facts:

- 1 Your used car has seemingly different values because competitive dealers are bidding to sell you a new car.
- 2 Your used car has only one fundamental basis of value: what the dealer who accepts it in trade can get for it in the used car market.
- 3 The largest trade-in allowance which is offered on your used car is not necessarily the best deal for you. Sometimes it is; but sometimes it is not.
- 4 An excessive allowance may mean that you are paying an excessive price for the new car in comparison with its real value.
- 5 Judge the merits of the new car in comparison with its price, including all delivery and finance charges. Then weigh any difference in allowance offered on your used car.

When you are ready to trade-in your present car, remember that after all you are making a purchase and not a sale. You are buying a new car and simply applying your present car as a credit toward the purchase price of the new car.

TWO DUKES HAVE KING AS LANDLORD

Make Annual Gift in Return for Estates.

Woodstock, England.—In spite of housing shortages and rising rents there are two persons in England who can live without fear of waking up some morning to find that their rents have been doubled. They are the duke of Marlborough and duke of Wellington and their landlord is the king of England.

Both noblemen hold their great estates as grants of royal favor from the crown. But the gift is not outright. Some return must be made and so it is that each of these noble lords must go once each year on a solemn pilgrimage to the king of England at Buckingham palace to make some gift which will insure his tenure for the following year.

The selection of the gift is by no means left to the personal fancy of the giver. It is carefully set down in Blackstone's "commentaries" that the two tenants must render to the king annually "some small implement of war as a bow, a sword, a lance, an arrow, or the like."

The duke of Marlborough's estate, Blenheim palace, at Woodstock, was given to the first duke of Marlborough as a reward for his victory at the battle of Blenheim in the War of the Spanish Succession in 1704. It was begun in 1704 and completed in 1722. The total cost of the palace was £300,000, of which £250,000 was defrayed by parliament.

Similarly, Stratford Saye house, near Reading, was presented to the first duke of Wellington by the nation, in 1815, following his victory over Napoleon at the battle of Waterloo.

Soviet to Preserve

Chapel of Virgin

Moscow.—Cathedrals, churches, mosques and synagogues of definite historical or architectural interest are to be preserved intact by the Soviet government.

This was indicated by the commissariat of education in refusing the petition of a Moscow borough government seeking the demolition of the famous chapel of the Iberian Virgin, which the devout consider the most sacred spot in Russia. The borough claimed it impeded traffic.

"This precious sixteenth century structure," said the commissariat, "has every claim to be preserved with the rest of Russia's monuments, because it represents a definite historical, artistic period in the life of the country."

Standing at the entrance to Red Square, the diminutive edifice was made famous by its icon of the Iberian Virgin, reputed to have miraculous powers, and by the fact that all czars during the last 300 years invariably went there for inspiration and blessing before ascending the throne.

'Get Thee Gone,' Divorce Decree in Turkestan

Tashkent, U. S. S. R.—Turkestan is one of the few remaining Moslem countries where the system of temporary marriages prevails.

As in the new Turkey, a man may divorce his wife by saying in substance: "Get thee gone!" He is then free to try matrimony with another. But the woman, under Islamic law, cannot remarry until 100 days have elapsed after her divorce. If she does so, she is cast out from Mohammedan society as a sinner.

Among the natives of Turkestan the penalty for infidelity in a wife is both severe and humiliating. To show her guilt, her face is blackened and she is placed on a donkey, with her face toward its tail, and led through the bazaar of the town.

Judge Insists

White Plains, N. Y.—Would a wife refuse alimony? Asked by Justice Morschauer how much she wanted, Mrs. Wilhelm Lechmann said: "I don't want any." "Oh, yes, you do," said the justice. "I will make your husband pay $100 a month and you must take it."

Shoshones 'Bury' Beds of Dead Warriors

Fort Washakie, Wyo.—Modern customs and ancient beliefs have clashed with weird results in the Wind River burial ground near here.

The old idea that the Shoshone Indian should have his personal effects buried with him was workable in the days when he slept on a buffalo robe, but these modern beds present a problem which is generally solved by leaving the bed above ground.

The burial place was established 43 years ago by Rev. John Roberts adjoining his log mission, which still stands. At that time the funeral ceremony consisted of placing the body of the deceased on the back of a pony which was led, followed by a cortege, up long trails to a mountain top. There burial was made in the crevices of a rocky point.

A Shoshone legend says the tribe is descended from a big coyote.

HISTORY OF TRIBES CARVED ON BLUFFS

Records Found on Sides of Guadalupes.

Carlsbad, N. M.—Pictographs of an aboriginal race that antedates all known southwestern tribes are mingled in the Guadalupe mountains near here with the more recent sketches and paintings of the Apache warriors who hid with the wily Geronimo, and with the initials of the pursuing soldiers under Gen. Nelson A. Miles.

The Guadalupe range is perhaps as little known as any in the United States, much of it never having been explored by white men. But the little that has been examined promises a field of archeological investigation for many years.

Carvings on Sides of Bluffs.

The hieroglyphics of the ancient tribe are carved and scratched on the bluffs and in the caves they inhabited in the mountains, and no attempt has been made to decipher their meaning. Unlike most Indian carvings and paintings the pictographs bear no resemblance to animal forms, but are in almost every case arrangements of geometric figures in friezes or panels, reaching in places to a height of eight feet. The friezes stretch to lengths of 100 feet or more horizontally until marred or broken up by the decay of rock strata into which they were cut.

In contrast to the maze of markings etched by the stone tools of the ancient race are the huge, gaudy drawings fashioned by the Indians during the last 150 years. One particularly brilliant painting is above a ledge high in the hills where, tradition has it, one of Geronimo's warriors fortified himself for a lone stand against the white troopers in the early eighties.

Many Soldiers' Names.

The painting depicts a warrior pointing up the canyon. The faint outline of a horse is visible beside him. The picture is translated as a warning to his tribesmen that mounted enemies are approaching through the canyon.

Indications of the passage of white soldiers through the mountains are plentiful. In many places initials and names of soldiers serving under General Miles are carved in the rock.

In a cave in a remote section is carved the name of W. M. Honney, better known as "Billy the Kid."

Incites "War" to Kill Pests Among Insects

Seattle, Wash.—Important to humans, although almost unnoticed by the general public, a war of extinction between mortal enemies in the insect world has been going on in the Pacific Northwest for four years and the end is not yet in sight.

The warfare was instigated by Prof. Trevor Klunz, professor of biology at the University of Washington, in an attempt to control a serious infestation known as the earwig, a species of harmful insect, by importing parasitic tachinade flies from Europe.

The tachinade flies are natural enemies of the earwig. Both came from Europe originally.

When poison bait and other weapons failed to check the encroachments of the earwig, the flies were pitted against them, first in a laboratory arena, where the earwig was victorious, and then in the fields at large.

An omnivorous eater of all growing things, the earwig also ensconces itself snugly in clothing or shipments of goods and does considerable damage.

Offer Students Prizes for Best Safety Essays

New York.—In 1926, there were 5,921 highway grade-crossing accidents in which 2,492 persons were killed and 6,961 injured. In 1925, there were 5,479 accidents in which 2,206 persons were killed and 6,555 injured.

In an effort to interest the public and especially the younger generation, in preventing grade-crossing accidents, the railroad, through the American Railway association, have announced an offer of three prizes in a nationwide contest to be awarded to school and college students. The prizes are to be $250 each, one for the best essay prepared by a grammar school student, one for the best, by a college student. The subject in all cases is to be "Cross Crossings Cautiously," and each essay must be not more than 250 words in length. Detailed plans for the contest have been arranged by J. C. Caviston, secretary of the safety section of the association, with headquarters at 30 Vesey street, New York. The contest closes on June 1.

200 Rattlesnakes Killed by Charge of Dynamite

Hot Springs, S. D.—Guy Keyes, a forest ranger whose station is near Key-stone, in Harney national forest, forty miles from Hot Springs, saw a rattlesnake glide along ahead of him as he rode over his range, and disappear in a crevice of boulders a short distance away.

He followed in order to kill the reptile. On coming close to the rock he saw a great mass of slowly writhing snakes in a recess in the boulders. Realizing that he could not cope with such numbers, Keyes rode to his station and secured dynamite, which he used to blow up both rocks and snakes. As accurate a count as could be made afterward showed that there were about 200 snakes killed.

LIONESS FIGHTS TO SAVE TAMER

Rescues Man Who Was Kind to Her Cubs.

London.—How a lioness successfully defended the life of a man who had administered medical attention to her sick cubs when he was attacked by a huge African lion was recounted in dispatches received here from Leicester.

Capt. Fred Wombwell, a lion tamer, with a circus showing at Leicester, entered the cage of the lioness and her cubs after a performance, and was attending to the sick cubs when the lion broke through a partition from an adjoining section of the cage, and sprang on the tamer.

The defenseless man was pinned in a corner of the cage, struggling with the charged beast, when the mother lioness savagely sprang upon the back of the lion, biting and tearing the beast with her claws. Her efforts were successful, and after a fierce and savage struggle she dragged the lion off Captain Wombwell. His back and shoulders bleeding profusely from innumerable wounds, Wombwell succeeded in dragging himself from the cage. His strength was practically gone, but he latched the door before falling unconscious.

In the meantime, the lion turned to defend himself from the mother of the cubs, and the two beasts engaged in a fierce fight.

Wombwell was found near the cage by an attendant who was attracted to the scene by the noise of the conflict.

In connection with the rescue by the lioness, it is pointed out that Captain Wombwell was saved from almost certain death under practically identical circumstances three years ago.

First "Miss America" Unearthed in Georgia

Atlanta, Ga.—With hair cropped to the vanishing point, ear lobes pierced for whimsical geo-gaws and dress abbreviated, Miss America the first or thereabouts, retains her figure while secretly numbering her years by centuries and defying any modern man to reveal her past.

Blonde or brunette, gentlemen's preferences matter not a whit with her, whose heart is of stone. She thrills archeologists and ethnologists who gaze on her wild grace and ponder over the mystery of her place and age in a race long gone in Georgia.

Imprisoned for countless moons beneath the henna clay of Etowah Indian mounds in northwest Georgia, she was found by a plowman, who straightway sent her to the state museum in Atlanta to resume her reign.

So famous has she now become, she already has made two trips northward, one to New York and the other to Washington, where she was studied and replicas made of her for use by scientists. These now are on display in New York, Phillips academy, Andover, Mass.; the Smithsonian Institution, Washington, and Oglethorpe university, Atlanta.

Despite the fact archeologists and others of their kind are "simply crazy" about her, the idol has large, lusterless eyes, a defiant mouth, with a leering tongue slightly protruding and squinty forehead. She is in a state of good preservation, although her left arm is missing. Fifteen and three-fourths inches in height, she weighs 33½ pounds.

"Serve" Dancers to Women in Berlin

Berlin.—"Walter, a dancer, please!" In this categorical way, women in fashionable dancing places or hotels may "order" a gentleman dancer hired by the management, just as they would order ice cream or a bottle of champagne, and they usually tip the dancer just as they would the waiter.

Owing to the daily growing variety of modern society dances women found out that it was hard for them to keep up-to-date. So, some Berlin gayety places created the new profession of "drill dancer," for whom a stylish dinner jacket, stainless linen, a pair of patent leather shoes and a monocle are the indispensable requisites. Of course, good manners are required, too, and a lot of patience.

Oakland Finds June Bad Month for Cats

Oakland, Calif.—Down-and-outers of the feline world in California "offer themselves to the world of hard knocks—and no food—in greater numbers during June than in any other month in the year, if figures compiled by the Animal Shelter league here are any indication. Cats receiving care that month totaled 488.

Since the inception of the organization in August, 1925, no less than 2,883 cats have obtained shelter at the organization. Homes were found for some of these—others are listed under the suggestive caption: Cats Dispatcher. These numbered 2,778.
